Course Description
This course considers how American writers have appropriated and revised the classic tropes of the European Gothic novel. We will examine the ways in which the mysteries of the Gothic have been rewritten for American audiences and interrogate the Gothic as a kind of outlet for cultural anxieties about race, class, and gender. Ultimately, you will use your expanded knowledge of the genre to create an original American Gothic graphic novel.

Student Learning Outcomes
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Recognize the connections between literary works and their social, historical, and cultural contexts
- Understand how American writers revised the traditional tropes of the European Gothic and how these revisions contributed to the formation of a national literature
- Explain how American Gothic narratives have served as an outlet for cultural anxieties about race, class, and gender
- Write and speak with greater confidence and insight about literature in general and novels in particular

Graded Activity
Your final grade breaks down this way:

- 40% Exams
  2 in-class exams, consisting of a set of identifications and an essay, at 20% each

- 20% Essay
  Short essay (5-6 pages; approximately 1250-1500 words) responding to one of our texts, due in advance of our class discussion; you will sign up for a particular text and receive a detailed assignment sheet during the second week of class.

- 20% Graphic novel group project
  Small group collaboration on an original graphic novel; includes both an accompanying rationale (4-5 pages) explaining artistic choices and individual contributions as well as a short presentation of your product

- 15% Class Participation
  Class participation includes regular contributions to class discussion; unannounced reading quizzes; short in-class writing assignments; and group work.

- 5% Short Presentation
  Short presentation and one-page handout on historical context for one of our novels

My Expectations and Policies

Attendance
Regular attendance is essential to your success in this class. Please arrive on time: repeated tardiness will lower your participation grade. Students are allowed a maximum of three absences without a grade penalty. Four absences will lower your final grade by one letter grade; five absences will lower your final grade by two letter grades. Six absences will result in failure of the course. I am aware that sometimes crises (such as serious illness or family issues) do arise during the course of the semester; please let me know as soon as possible if you are dealing with an exceptional situation that is interfering with your schoolwork. I may ask you to provide documentation in order to excuse certain absences or to offer makeup exams. If you are absent, check your email for any announcements and obtain notes from a classmate (or two). I will be happy to answer your questions regarding missed classes after you have reviewed the notes.

Participation and Preparation
This course demands not only your regular attendance but also your active participation. Although this class generally follows a lecture format, every class meeting will include some discussion. Please complete all assigned readings prior to each class (see attached course schedule). As you read, begin to think critically about how each text speaks to previous readings and what new ideas it raises. I certainly don’t expect you to have all the answers to these questions—we’ll work through them together as a class—but I do expect you to contribute regularly to class discussion.
Late Work
A penalty of one letter grade per day late applies to any work not turned in on time. If you provide me with documentation of an illness or an emergency, the penalty will not apply.

Academic Integrity
All work completed for this class must be your own. If you paraphrase, summarize, or quote from outside sources in your short essay, follow MLA citation guidelines; please don't hesitate to ask me if you are unsure about citing sources. Any instances of plagiarism or cheating will be prosecuted to the fullest extent according to University regulations.

Electronic Devices
Please turn off and disengage with phones before class. If you wish to take notes on a laptop, you will need to sit in the first rows of the lecture hall.

Notice to Students with Disabilities
Texas A&M University Corpus Christi complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act in making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you suspect that you may have a disability (physical impairment, learning disability, psychiatric disability, etc.), please contact the Services for Students with Disabilities Office, located in Driftwood 101, at 825-5816. If you need disability accommodations in this class, please see me as soon as possible.

Academic Advising
The College of Liberal Arts requires that students meet with an Academic Advisor as soon as they are ready to declare a major. The Academic Advisor will set up a degree plan, which must be signed by the student, a faculty mentor, and the department chair. The College’s Academic Advising Center is located in Driftwood 203E, and can be reached at 825-3466.

Reminder to English Majors: As part of the English undergraduate capstone course (ENGL 4351), all English majors are required to submit a portfolio of writings in different discourse genres that they have completed for their college classes. To help you prepare for this assignment, you should keep a copy of all essays, research papers, literary analyses, creative and report writing, etc., so that you will have an ample selection from which to choose when the portfolio comes due.

Grade Appeal Process
As stated in University Rule 13.02.99.C2, Student Grade Appeals, a student who believes that he or she has not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in the class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details, including the responsibilities of the parties involved in the process and the number of days allowed for completing the steps in the process, see University Rule 13.02.99.C2, Student Grade Appeals, and University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures. These documents are accessible through the University Rules web site at http://www.tamucc.edu/provost/university_rules/index.html. For assistance and/or guidance in the grade appeal process, students may contact the Office of Student Affairs.
Helpful Hints

Use the Writing Center
The Writing Center offers assistance with any writing assignment for any class. I offer extra credit (added to your participation grade) for Writing Center visits. You’ll need to bring me a stamped sheet from the Writing Center to receive your extra credit. See the Writing Center website (http://casa.tamucc.edu/tutoring.php?subject=writing_center) for hours and info.

Talk to Me
Feel free to drop by office hours or make an appointment to see me about any questions or concerns. I can help you to navigate any hurdles that may be popping up if I know what those challenges are.
