The Art of the Theatre explores the origins, elements, and ideas concerning theatre as it affects us today. This is accomplished through reading and discussions of the text, an exploration into the creative processes associated with the productions of plays, and an examination of the theatre through the imagination of both the theatre artist and the audience. The class will also view live and mediated representative plays for discussion.

Student Learning Objectives:

1. The student will learn an overview of the history of the Theatre and understand the historical, social, and cultural influences that inform it.
2. The student will learn the contributions of the playwright, the actor, the designers, and the audience into the creative process of the Theatre.
3. Having learned an overview of the history of the Theatre and the contributions of Theatre artists and management, the student will develop an informed, aesthetic response to Theatre as an art form.

Plays studied in class:
1) There are 5 papers on representative plays that are viewed during class.
2) The 2 University Theatre play critiques consist of a short analysis following the guidelines distributed in class. Each critique will have a set of objectives the student is to MEET. These critiques are to be between 2-3 pages, double-spaced and 12 point font. Please answer the questions in number format not essay style and attach the form provided in class. 100 points each.
3) There are 5 papers on the playwrights whose plays we study in class. Each paper is one page, double spaced. 12 point font. 50 points each.
4) There are also opportunities for extra credit. They will be assignments between 2-3 pages on optional plays offered off-campus. You must get these plays approved prior to viewing them and pick up the critique paper. They are worth 50 points each. There are also other extra credit assignments possible throughout the semester.
5) All plays on campus are $5 and Musicals are $10. If this presents a financial hardship on you, please see me for an alternate assignment. You must let me know prior to the date of the play!!!

Missed classes:
Missed classes, late work, or missed assignments will not be allowed to be made up. You will receive a “0” for all late work. It is the student’s responsibility to hand in their work on time, in class on the date assigned. Only medical emergencies with supporting documents will be considered as excused.
