Course Description:
This course examines how new media technologies impact society and change communication practices. Particular emphasis placed on different modes of cultural expression and social interaction made possible through digital media and the Internet.

Course Detail:
This course explores contemporary uses of new and emerging digital media platforms, especially as they facilitate digital culture and as they continue to disseminate more widely as channels of communication. Students will explore specific themes such as identity, community, and virality through the lenses of various culture theories. Readings, discussions, writing, and a new media research project will help students gain a greater understanding of networked digital media, its culture, and the relationships that exist between machines and humans, as well as those between society and technology.

Student Learning Outcomes:
Each course, students should be able to:
» Critically evaluate many of the current scholarly topics and debates that occur within new media and digital media studies.
» Articulate the current and potential future implications of digital media on culture, as well as the way in which pre-existing cultural conventions also impacts the advancement of Internet technology.
» Utilize cultural theories to analyze, describe, and further develop interpretive and evaluative arguments about the culture of digital media.
» Conduct a digital media research project to gain insight into how digital media platforms shape communication

Required Materials:
» All course readings, lectures recordings, podcasts, and videos will be provided via links on Blackboard

Course Policies:
» Late work will be penalized by points equaling one letter grade for each day it is late. Work submitted more than three days past its original due date will not be accepted.
» Please remember to check your email regularly during the week and monitor the course Blackboard site for any course updates.
» If you would like to discuss any course readings, lectures, or assignments outside of class, you should feel free to contact me via Blackboard messages, my office phone, or by arranging to visit me during my office hours. If you need to schedule a time to meet outside of office hours, please let me know.
» All writing for this course must be composed using a standard, 12-point font size, and with standard 1" margins.

Academic Integrity:
University students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes all forms of cheating, such as illicit possession of examinations or examination materials, falsification, forgery, complicity or plagiarism. (Plagiarism is the presentation of the work of another as one’s own work. For a more expansive definition of plagiarism please see the relevant passage from the University's student handbook.) In this class, academic misconduct or complicity in an act of academic misconduct on an assignment or test will result in a failing grade (F) for the assignment, at the very least, or a report to the Chair of the Department of Communication and Media, the Dean of the School of Arts, Media, and Communication, and the Office of Student Affairs.

Dropping a Class:
I hope that you never find it necessary to drop this or any other class. However, events can sometimes occur that make dropping a course necessary or wise. Please consult with me before you decide to drop to be sure it is the best thing to do. Should dropping the class be the best course of action, you must initiate the process to drop by going to the Student Services Center and filling out a course drop form. Just stopping attendance and participation WILL NOT automatically result in your being dropped from the class. July 24, 2014, is the last day to drop a class with an automatic grade of “W” this term.

Classroom/Professional Behavior:
Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, as an academic community, requires that each individual respect the needs of others to study and learn in a peaceful atmosphere. Under Article III of the Student Code of Conduct, classroom behavior that interferes with either (a) the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or (b) the ability of other students to profit from the instructional program may be considered a breach of the peace and is subject to disciplinary sanction outlined in article VII of the Student Code of Conduct. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior may be instructed to leave the classroom. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including classrooms, electronic classrooms, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc.

Academic Advising:
The College of Liberal Arts requires that students meet with an Academic Advisor as soon as they are ready to declare a major. The Academic Advisor will set up a degree plan, which must be signed by the student, a faculty mentor, and the department chair. The College’s Academic Advising Center is located in Driftwood 203E, and can be reached at 825-3466.
Notice to Students with Disabilities:
Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act in making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you suspect that you may have a disability (physical impairment, learning disability, psychiatric disability, etc.), please contact the Services for Students with Disabilities Office, located in Driftwood 101, at 361-825-5816. If you need disability accommodations in this class, please see me as soon as possible.

Grade Appeal Process:
Students who feel that they have not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in this class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details on the process of submitting a formal grade appeal, please visit the College of Liberal Arts website, cla.tamucc.edu/students/studentinfo.html. For assistance and/or guidance in the grade appeal process, students may contact the Associate Dean.
Grade Distribution:
» Unit Discussion Forum Posts (100 points - 10% of final grade): We will use the course Blackboard Discussion Forum to conduct conversations regarding content we are covering in the units. You will be asked to respond to specific questions or to post specific sorts of material with commentary. Initial posts for each unit’s forum should run 150-300 words, though grading emphasis will be placed on quality of posts (as defined by their corresponding rubrics). These will be worth up to 20 points each.
» Unit Discussion Forum Activity (50 points - 5% of final grade): Your activity responding to other classmates’ posts (and discussions based on your own) throughout the semester will also be assigned a point value of up to 50 points (10 points possible in each unit).
» Exam 1 (200 points - 20% of final grade): A “take-home” exam covering topics from Units 1 and 2 will be made available via Blackboard at noon on July 18 and due 48-hours later via Blackboard at noon on July 20.
» Exam 2 (300 points - 30% of final grade): A “take-home” exam covering topics discussed over the entire semester, but focusing on those covered in Units 3, 4, and 5, will be distributed on August 8 and must be submitted 2 days later via Blackboard on May 10.
» Final Project (350 points total - 35% of final grade): You will design a project to study some form of communication and/or community facilitated by new media. This will serve as your culminating work for the class. The general expectations for the components of this project are posted in the Final Project area of Blackboard.
   » Final Project Proposal (50 points - 5% of final grade): Due via Blackboard on July 11.
   » Final Project Outline and Annotated Bibliography (100 points - 10% of final grade): Due via Blackboard on July 25.
   » Final Project Exhibition (200 points - 20% of final grade): Information from your final project will be published online by August 4.

Grade Scale:
A  900-1000 points
B  800-899 points
C  700-799 points
D  600-699 points
F  Less than 600 points
