A Graduate painting course with the focus of working towards a total body of work.

B. FOCUS, PURPOSE AND GOALS OF COURSE:

1. COURSE PURPOSE:
Graduates pursuing a Fine Arts degree in painting at TAMUCC are expected to advance and expand at the highest level of quality of work that is possible for this program. Graduates must demonstrate superior studio art proficiency, knowledge of how their paintings are thematically related, and what master influences helped to define their vision. This course is part of a broader curriculum that prepares students for art-related careers and teaching at the college/university level. This entails leadership among the undergraduates through your own work ethic and through dialog with the undergraduates as needed.

2. COURSE GOALS:

a. To gain in–depth knowledge and competence in one or more areas of specialization within the scope of painting.
b. To broaden the students knowledge about other areas of specialization within the art field
c. The ability to conduct research into various associated fields as necessary for creation of art works
d. To gain a theoretical, historical, and cultural understanding of contemporary art
e. The ability to write clearly about art works and theoretical issues related to art works
f. To gain an understanding of pedagogical approaches to teaching art
g. To find their way toward individual expression by having frequent critiques with the professor and committee members.
h. To clearly present the visual and conceptual qualities of their work.
i. To develop their ideas for personal growth and relate these concerns to a broad historical background of achievements in the field of art.
j. To have the knowledge and ability to apply for support via a grant and / or residency.
A partial list will be provided with the remaining sources investigated by the Graduate.
C. PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES - expected student outcomes:

Technical Competency
Graduates will demonstrate a reasonably high degree of competency of technical execution appropriate to the chosen medium.

Understanding
From a selection of projects, oral presentations, critiques, sketchbooks, portfolios and/or written papers, Graduates will demonstrate an understanding of the social, visual, psychological and/or aesthetic components of art-making.

Critical Thinking
From a selection of projects, oral presentations, critiques, sketchbooks, portfolios and/or written papers, Graduates will demonstrate an awareness of the contemporary concerns in art, and can assess critically their own contribution.

Art-making
Graduates will make works of art that reflect a synthesis of competent technical execution, written understanding and critical thinking appropriate to the chosen medium. This work may involve a variety of strategies including possible combinations of traditional and nontraditional media and text.

Critiques:
The scheduled time is for painting, but Graduates will be required to participate in scheduled critiques also. Critiques will afford the students with an opportunity to speak about their work within the context of contemporary painting, but also the larger history of painting. Influences will be investigated based on the following criteria:

Content: The theme or parameters for what needs to be said visually.
Imagery: The vehicle for the content. Imagery needed to express the content.
Application: How the paint is applied to the canvas and why.
Influence: The issues or elements that the artist was concerned with in making a painting.

Critiques are an essential part of the creative process. Graduates learn as much by offering constructive feedback as by receiving it. At the graduate level, students must question the quality of their work on an ongoing basis throughout the semester.

Because painting involves personal creativity and self-expression, it is easy to feel either deflated or defensive about criticism. For this reason it is important to both give and receive criticism in a kind and caring manner.

When giving criticism, always describe what you are seeing and experiencing, rather than your opinion as it relates to your personal taste. For example, rather than saying, “I don’t like this.”, it is more constructive to say, “I’m not sure what you want me to look at first.” or, “I was drawn to this first, but then I got confused about where to go next.”, or, “This makes me feel such and such.”

When receiving criticism, listen with an open mind but be selective about the criticism you accept as valid. There may be disagreements among members of the class about your work. Everyone has a different level of visual acuity, and everyone has different personal experiences and associations that shape their opinions. The value of being in school, and in a small studio class, is not only to give and receive as much feedback as possible, but to learn how to make the most of it.

Do not take what is said about your work personally, no matter how difficult this seems. These assignments require that you take risks and try new things. Your effort and willingness to learn is a reflection of your worth as an artist.

Graded Activity

Critique 1
1. Graduates will begin to choose a selection of three contemporary artists who influence them in some form for their presentation
2. Graduates identify the four areas (content, imagery, application, and influence) for the analysis of their chosen contemporary artists.
3. Graduates select quotes from the master painter to connect the artist’s influences to their work.
4. Graduates identify the same four areas (content, imagery, application, and influence) pertaining to their own work.
5. Graduates present at least 2 new paintings that are 40% complete, pointing out demonstrable ways in which the four areas above are evident in their work.

Critique 2
1. Graduates will present 2 paintings that are 70% complete, pointing out demonstrable ways in which the four areas (content, imagery, application, and influence) above are evident in their work.
2. Graduates will describe their paintings’ content, composition, and style.
3. Graduates will explain the personal meaning of their paintings, and how their ideas and feelings came together in imagery, color, and form.
4. Graduates will articulate the choices they made in the production.

Critique 3
1. Graduates will present 2 paintings that are 100% complete, pointing out demonstrable ways in which the student grew and developed through their work.
2. Graduates will incorporate the analysis of an artist that they identified as having influenced them in their paper as they present their own paintings.
3. Graduates will show their presentation of three contemporary influential artists.
Final Grade
Critique 1 25 points
Critique 2 25 points

Presentation 25 points
Total 100 points

Grading Criteria:
Grading will be based on the six works you complete throughout the semester and determined by progress, craftsmanship and creativity. Of the six, the lowest grade will be eliminated. The letter grade and its corresponding numerical value is as follows:

“A” (90 – 100)
- Excellent work and consistent, exemplary effort
  - A strong compositional sense (ordering of edges, shapes, values, clarity, detail etc.)
  - All illusions of spatial movement and volume are clear and easily understandable

“B” (80 – 89)
- Above average work, shows considerable growth
  - Compositional sense is becoming stronger.
  - All spatial movement and volume are clear and easily understandable

“C” (70 – 79)
- Satisfactory work, some progress, good attendance

“D” (60 – 69)
- Work needs improvement, poor attendance
  - Spaces and volumes are unclear and ambiguous
  - Lack of control over materials and illusions

“F” (Below 59)

Sample grading: 85 + 75+ 45-+ 70 + 90 + 85 = 405 / 5= 81 (B) Final Grade
