Course Description:
Criminology is designed to offer undergraduate students an introductory understanding of the various biological, psychological, and sociological theories of crime through readings, class lectures, group discussions, and videos. The course will begin with a focus on definitions of crime and law, measuring crime, crime trends, and an overview of criminological theory. This course will then trace the historical development of criminological theory and includes critical discussions of the biological, psychological, and sociological explanations underlying criminal behavior. Readings and class lectures will introduce, describe, and critique the different theories as well as explore empirical examinations and policy implications of these theories. Throughout the course, there will be an emphasis on developing critical thinking skills when evaluating criminological theory, research, and policy.

Learning Objectives:
1. To provide a framework for the study of crime, criminal behavior, and criminal justice with a broad overview of each of the major criminological perspectives of the 18th through the 21st centuries including classical, biological, psychological, and sociological theories of crime and criminality.
2. To introduce students to research, theory, and policies in criminology and sociology that are relevant to the problems of a demanding criminal justice environment and discuss how criminological theory applies to the American Criminal Justice System (policing, courts, and corrections) as well as administration of justice in the United States.
3. To discuss the nature and extent of crime, known crime correlates, and various factors leading to criminal behavior and develop the knowledge and skills to analyze, critique, and construct criminological theory.
4. To critically analyze and evaluate various criminological theories with an emphasis on understanding the role of social, political, historical, cultural, and economic factors as well as the practical and policy implications of criminological theory.

Learning Outcomes:
1. Identify and describe the major paradigms from which theories of crime and criminality have emerged;
2. Summarize and critique each major criminological theory;
3. Compare and contrast the relative validity of each theory;
4. Assess the theoretical explanations of crime in relation to the forms of criminality.
Major Course Requirements:

Exams
Two exams will be administered in this course. Exams will include multiple-choice, true/false, and a short essay portion. Exams will cover the assigned readings, class discussions, and videos. Exams will not be cumulative. Permission to take an all essay make-up exam will only be granted under exceptional circumstances.

Research Paper
Paper guidelines will be posted via Blackboard and discussed in class. Papers must be no less than FIVE pages, typed and double-spaced (one-inch margins, 12-point font). Plagiarism WILL NOT be tolerated. Late papers will be accepted but you will lose points (ten points for each day the paper is late.)

Comparative Criminology Journal
Once per session week, students will be assigned a journal assignment requiring the student to discuss the Scottish criminal justice system (and comparative perceptions of the American system) with local citizens. Students will then produce reflective writing pieces that both describe their experience and ascribe meaning to their dialogue.

Attendance & Participation
Regular attendance and participation is unequivocally the most important step in ensuring you are successful in this course, and as a consequence, is worth a large portion of your final grade. I will be taking attendance every day. Students are allowed 1 absence without penalty. Each successive absence will deduct 10 points from your attendance grade. Students with approved documentation from the university will have their absences excused from this deduction.

Course Policies:

Late work and Make-up Exams

Late exams and papers will result in an automatic 10-point reduction per day.

Academic Integrity/Plagiarism.

University students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes all forms of cheating, such as illicit possession of examinations or examination materials, falsification, forgery, complicity or plagiarism. (Plagiarism is the presentation of the work of another as one’s own work.) In this class, academic misconduct or complicity in an act of academic misconduct on an assignment or test will result in a zero for that assignment or test.

Academic Advising: The College of Liberal Arts requires that students meet with an Academic Advisor as soon as they are ready to declare a major. Degree plans are prepared in the CLA Academic Advising Center. The University uses an online Degree Audit system. Any amendment must be approved by the Department Chair and the Office of the Dean. All courses and requirements specified in the final degree plan audit must be completed before a degree will be granted. The CLA Academic Advising Office is located in Driftwood #203. For more information please call 361-825-3466.

Grade Appeals Process: As stated in University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures, a student who believes that she or she has not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in the class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details, including the responsibilities of the parties involved in the process and the number of days allowed for completing the steps in the process, see University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures, (available at http://academicaffairs.tamucc.edu/rules_procedures/assets/13.02.99.C2.01_student_grade_appeal_procedure.pdf). For complete details on the process of submitting a formal grade appeal, please visit the College of Liberal Arts website, http://cla.tamucc.edu/about/student-resources.html. For assistance and/or guidance in the grade appeal process, students may contact the Associate Dean’s Office.

Disability Services: The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you believe you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please call or visit Disability Services at (361) 825-5816 in Corpus Christi Hall, Room #116.

If you are a returning veteran and are experiencing cognitive and/or physical access issues in the classroom or on campus, please contact the Disability Services office for assistance at (361) 825-5816.
