Organizational Behavior and Theory

Course Description:

The course is a graduate level study of individual, group, and intergroup behavior within organizations. Issues discussed include personality differences, power, politics, interpersonal relations, conflict management, work environment, satisfaction, performance, and team building. Prerequisites: MGMT 5310 or equivalent.

Course Purpose:

The purpose of this course is to provide the student with a strategic perspective of organizational behavior and its impact/influence on decision making and performance. Such understanding will be emphasized within a framework that focuses on ethical business behavior and the implications of individual and organizational ethics in building long-term organizational relationships, and meeting the challenges of a global economy.
Learning Objectives:

The terminal objectives for this course are for students to have:

- An enhanced ability to manage organizations and their members by improving the skills for identifying causes of organizational events and devising action plans for influencing future events and behaviors
- An increased understanding of the roles of theory and research in management decision making
- Additional critical thinking skills for identifying organizational dynamics based on existing theories and research as applied to case-study analysis
- The ability to interpret and integrate concepts and strategies into business practices
- A working relationship with contemporary management challenges for the purpose of understanding, developing, analyzing, and preparing for consideration of management decisions

Course Policies:

General Student Performance Expectations & Policies

This class will have over 150 students, and the e-mail volume can be overwhelming. Please pay attention to due dates and instructions - the majority of questions can be answered from the posted material on BlackBoard. Please feel free to e-mail your instructor/grader any questions related to the material.

- You will be assigned an instructor/grader on the first day of class. That person is your initial point of contact for the course.

- Required method of scholarly citations: All referenced material should use APA citations and referencing.

Students will be expected to complete every assignment on time. Students are expected to read, analyze, and study all assigned material to complete the assignments. All chapter material is the responsibility of the student to read and understand. Any questions may be e-mailed to your instructor/grader.

All written assignments should be submitted on time through Blackboard. Do not e-mail assignments to your instructor/grader – e-mail submissions cannot be accepted. Be sure to upload the version of your assignments that you wish to have graded. There is a 20% grade reduction for each revision change after your work has been submitted.

This is a very large class and e-mail traffic can be overwhelming. Many of our students are working/professionals with busy schedules and cannot be burdened with sifting through the “reply to all” messages. Don’t use the TAMUCC e-mail as a social media platform. Direct your e-mail comments to your instructor/grader.

Examity provides a free internet speed and connectivity evaluation. You should consider using it before you attempt the exams.

The Connect exercises can be accessed directly through the McGraw-Hill Connect website. The link is on the BlackBoard home page.

Grades on late assignments will be reduced by one letter grade. If 24 hours late, reduced by two letter grades, and if 48 hours late, by three letter grades. Assignments over 48 hours late will not be accepted, and the student will receive a zero. Any approved assignment make-ups will be on a case-by-case basis. It is very important that each student stay current in the course.

Exams

All exams will be closed-book, closed-notes and will be proctored. In this fully online class, you will take your tests remotely and they will be proctored by a service called Examity®. To use Examity®, you will need to make sure you meet the following technical requirements:
• You must take your exam on a computer with a webcam and a microphone (both built-in and external are fine.)
• You must take your exam from a location with sufficient internet speed: at least 700KBPS upload and download speed. You can test your internet speed at
If you have any questions or concerns, you can contact Examity’s technical support team 24/7 via email at support@examity.com or phone at (855) - 392-6489. Examity® involves third party charges. Exam-proctoring charges may range from $3 - $31.50 per exam. Students may be required to schedule exams at least 24 hours in advance or incur late scheduling charges. All costs for exams are the responsibility of the student. Students are also responsible for providing webcams and microphones to be used in test proctoring.

Feedback

Feedback will be provided within a week, if possible. If there is some extenuating circumstance that precludes feedback within that time, you will be advised by your instructor/grader.

Academic Integrity/Plagiarism

University students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes all forms of cheating, such as illicit possession of examinations or examination materials, forgery, complicity or plagiarism. (Plagiarism is the presentation of the work of another as one’s own work.) In this class, academic misconduct or complicity in an act of academic misconduct on an assignment or test will result in failing the course.

Dropping a Class

Hopefully, you will not find it necessary to drop this class. However, events can sometimes occur that make dropping a course necessary or wise. Should dropping the course be the best course of action, you must initiate the process to drop the course by contacting the Student Services Center and filling out a course drop form. Just stopping attendance and participation WILL NOT automatically result in your being dropped from the class.

Required method of scholarly citations

All referenced material should use APA citations and referencing.

Classroom/professional behavior

Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, as an academic community, requires that each individual respect the needs of others to study and learn in a peaceful atmosphere. Under Article III of the Student Code of Conduct, classroom behavior that interferes with either (a) the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or (b) the ability of other students to profit from the instructional program, may be considered a breach of the peace and is subject to disciplinary sanction outlined in article VII of the Student Code of Conduct. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior may be instructed to leave the classroom. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including classrooms, electronic classrooms, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc.

Grade Appeals

As stated in University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures, a student who believes that he or she has not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in the class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details, including the responsibilities of the parties involved in the process and the number of days allowed for completing the steps in the process, see University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures. These documents are accessible through the University Rules Web site at http://www.tamucc.edu/provost/university_rules/index.html. For assistance and/or guidance in the grade appeal process, students may contact the Dean’s office in the college in which the course is taught or the Office of the Provost.

Disabilities Accommodations

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodations for their disabilities. If you believe you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please call or visit Disability Services at (361) 825-5816 in Corpus Christi Hall 116. If you are a returning veteran and are experiencing cognitive and/or physical access issues in the classroom or on campus, please contact the Disability Services office for assistance at (361) 825-5816.

Statement of Academic Continuity

In the event of an unforeseen adverse event, such as a major hurricane, during which classes could not be held on the campus of Texas A&M University–Corpus Christi, this course would continue through Blackboard. If Blackboard is down, messages will be posted on the home page of Connect. In addition, the syllabus and class activities may be modified to allow continuation of the course. Ideally, University facilities (i.e., emails, web sites, and Blackboard) will be operational within two days of the closing of the physical campus.
