Course Description
This course provides the student with the necessary instruction to acquire the skill to play in a large ensemble that includes woodwinds, brass, percussion, and strings. The core members of this class will be the string players. Instruments from other families will be included when needed depending on the repertoire. Discussions on the history of the works being performed will be part of the class content.

Course Objectives

1. To develop a sense of what it means to play in an orchestra
2. To gain knowledge of large ensemble (chamber orchestra) string literature as well as symphonic works. Pieces of music from the standard repertoire will be chosen at the beginning of the semester at the discretion of the instructor.
3. To perform two public concerts during the semester
4. To develop a keen sense of rhythm, intonation, and quality of sound through the weekly practice.
5. Students will acquire the ability to follow a conductor and interpret conducting gestures into musical performance.
6. Students will learn to perform without conductor in a chamber orchestra setting

Course Materials

1. Students should have a good instrument and keep it well maintained and adjusted. If I determine that your instrument needs repairs, you must repair it or find a replacement as soon as possible. Failure to do this may affect your final grade.
2. I will provide the repertoire that will be used throughout the semester. Make sure to bring your music to rehearsals, and performances. Failure to do so will affect your grade in a negative manner.
3. Students should have proper concert attire for performances. In less formal occasions the instructor and students can come to an agreement about a different concert wear. For all performances we used what is called Concert Black. This means the following:
   Men: Black tuxedo, white shirt, bow tie, polished black shoes, black socks, (No White Socks!).
   Women: Black dress at or below the knees or a black top with black pants & black shoes.

Ensemble Policies

Students have to be respectful with each other and learn how to work as a team. If a difficult situation arises between students that will have an effect in the final musical result, discuss it with me immediately. We will find a solution that will allow the accomplishment of the class objectives.

Dress Code

The dress code policy is designed so all players look professional and uniform. It is expected that all members will adhere to the code. Those found in violation of the code will be dismissed from the concert and be subject to the consequences as outlined in the syllabus.

Grading

Attendance is mandatory. Rehearsals will be monitored by the instructor. You have to come to class individually prepared. Although we are working in a large ensemble, my expertise in the field of ensemble playing allows me to know if you are doing the work or not.

Ensemble preparation will get a grade and individual preparation will have a separate grade. I will have a series of performance quizzes during the semester that will serve as seating auditions and will be counted as 50% of your grade. Attendance will be the other 50%. The Concerts constitutes the main project for this class. Failure to attend performances will give the instructor enough ground for dismissing or failing the student. These are the dates for the performances during the Spring 2017:

Dropping a Class
I hope that you never find it necessary to drop this or any other class. However, events can sometimes occur that make dropping a course necessary or wise. Please consult with me before you decide to drop to be sure it is the best thing to do. Should dropping the course be the best course of action, you must initiate the process to drop the course by going to the Student Services Center and filling out a course drop form. Just stopping attendance and participation WILL NOT automatically result in your being dropped from the class. April 7, 2017 is the last day to drop a class with an automatic grade of “W” this term.
Classroom/professional behavior
Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, as an academic community, requires that each individual respect the needs of others to study and learn in a peaceful atmosphere. Under Article III of the Student Code of Conduct, classroom behavior that interferes with either (a) the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or (b) the ability of other students to profit from the instructional program may be considered a breach of the peace and is subject to disciplinary sanction outlined in article VII of the Student Code of Conduct. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior may be instructed to leave the classroom. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including classrooms, electronic classrooms, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc.

GRADE APPEALS PROCESS
As stated in University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures, a student who believes that he or she has not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in the class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details, including the responsibilities of the parties involved in the process and the number of days allowed for completing the steps in the process, see University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures (available at https://academicaffairs.tamucc.edu/rules_procedures/assets/13.02.99.C2.01_student_grade_appeal_procedure.pdf).
