Course Description: The university flute ensemble is a chamber ensemble that rehearses twice a week throughout each fall and spring semester. Each semester, the ensemble typically performs one full concert and participates in one or more additional concerts. Membership is open to all university students, under the following guidelines. Flutists accepted as music majors are automatically eligible for membership in the ensemble; non-music majors must complete a short audition for the instructor to be considered for membership.

Learning Objectives: The university chamber music ensembles provide student musicians with the valuable opportunity to work with peers in a situation in which every person is individually accountable. That is, since there is usually only one player on each part, each player is responsible for learning every aspect of that part to the best of his/her ability. In addition, chamber music with other flutists allows for deeper exploration of the unique challenges inherent in flute playing. This enhances and reinforces the issues addressed in applied lessons as well as in larger ensembles. Also, rehearsal sessions held both with and occasionally without a faculty coach encourage students to listen for themselves, developing important collaborative and teaching strategies which will be vital to the students’ later success in the music profession as teachers and performers. The selection, rehearsal, and performance of a wide range of music will challenge ensemble members aesthetically, musically, and intellectually.

Student Learning Outcomes: Each semester, students will:

- Practice, rehearse and perform music requiring only one person per part;
- Analyze problems in rehearsals and solve problems to master independent creative performance;
- At times, work independently without direct aid of a faculty coach, developing critical thinking skills and collaborative learning tools;
- Rehearse and perform works from a variety of style periods.

Expectations: The role of the faculty coach is the selection and preparation of quality repertoire, and the use of appropriate rehearsal techniques to assist the ensemble in reaching its top performance level. It is imperative that each student accepts the responsibility of mastering the technical details — outside of the ensemble rehearsal — of his/her individual parts immediately following the initial reading. Attendance, punctuality, and preparation are required of all players. Please assist with rehearsal room setup and be warmed up and ready to play at the beginning of the rehearsal time.

Grading: Each ensemble member meeting expectations (i.e. preparation, attendance, growth) and having no unexcused absences from rehearsals/performances will receive a grade of “A.” Those not meeting expectations will receive a grade of “B” or lower. In the case of substandard preparation, a student will be called into a conference with Dr. Sipes to address issues and an opportunity given to show improvement before the course grade is lowered. Repeated absences and/or inadequate preparation of parts may result in part reassignment, at the instructor’s discretion.

Excused absences from performances and rehearsals are extremely rare (i.e. death in the family, conflicting university function). Each unexcused absence from rehearsal will lower the student’s grade by one full letter grade. Two unexcused tardies will equal one unexcused absence. An unexcused absence from a performance will result in a failing grade in the course; therefore, all the performances listed below are required events.
IMPORTANT: If you find that you are unable to attend a rehearsal or performance for any reason, you must contact Dr. Sipes by email (preferred), phone, or in person before said rehearsal or performance. Make sure that your folder is at the rehearsal. If impossible to do so prior to the rehearsal/performance (car accident on the way to rehearsal, etc.), contact Dr. Sipes as soon as possible.

Dropping a Class: I hope that you never find it necessary to drop this or any other class. However, events can sometimes occur that make dropping a course necessary or wise. Please consult with me before you decide to drop to be sure it is the best thing to do. Should dropping the course be the best course of action, you must initiate the process to drop the course by going to the Student Services Center and filling out a course drop form. Just stopping attendance and participation WILL NOT automatically result in your being dropped from the class. Please refer to the current academic calendar for drop dates.

Grade Appeals

As stated in University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures, a student who believes that he or she has not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in the class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details, including the responsibilities of the parties involved in the process and the number of days allowed for completing the steps in the process, see University Procedure 13.02.99.C2.01, Student Grade Appeal Procedures (available at http://academicaffairs.tamucc.edu/rules_procedures/assets/13.02.99.C2.01_student_grade_appeal_procedure.pdf).

Statement of Academic Continuity

In the event of an unforeseen adverse event, such as a major hurricane and classes could not be held on the campus of Texas A&M University–Corpus Christi; this course would continue through the use of Blackboard and/or email. In addition, the syllabus and class activities may be modified to allow continuation of the course. Ideally, University facilities (i.e., emails, web sites, and Blackboard) will be operational within two days of the closing of the physical campus. However, students need to make certain that the course instructor has a primary and a secondary means of contacting each student.

Academic Advising: The College of Liberal Arts requires that students meet with an Academic Advisor as soon as they are ready to declare a major. Degree plans are prepared in the CLA Academic Advising Center. The University uses an online Degree Audit system. Any amendment must be approved by the Department Chair and the Office of the Dean. All courses and requirements specified in the final degree plan audit must be completed before a degree will be granted. The CLA Academic Advising Office is located in Driftwood #203. For more information, please call 361-825-3466.
