Theme: “Lights, Camera, Action”

Student Learning Outcomes Tetrad:

This semester in our Learning Community we will be actively working to answer the following thematic questions:

- What are your “roles” in the world? If we think of the world as a stage (thank you, Shakespeare!), what parts do you play?
- How do you enact or embody these roles?
- How does the learning and experiences you are gaining in our LC and in college, in general, complicate and expand the roles that you perform? What additional roles will you take on as you progress towards graduation?

As we move through the process of answering these questions, LCFC members will be meeting the following action-oriented, transferable student learning outcomes:

- Using multiple ways of “reading the world” to make connections to and between course materials, the self, others, and the world at-large
- Adopting problem-solving mentalities to facilitate learning and participation in an academic community and the world at-large
- Taking responsibility for one’s own learning, intellectual growth and academic development

Acting as discerning, intellectual agents who both consume and produce/create information, art, texts, and other cultural artifacts

Course Description:

This course provides an introduction to the study of film aesthetics, history, and criticism. It introduces an aesthetic vocabulary that students will use to analyze components of film form, such as mise-en-scène, cinematography, editing, and genre. The course approaches films as texts that indicate cultural attitudes and norms of their time and that can be understood through textual analysis. A number of critical methodologies are introduced to study cinema’s role in American culture, including issues of race, class, and gender. The course seeks to enhance the students’ understanding of film from a historical perspective, contextualizing film within the history of cinema technology and the movie industry.

Student Learning Outcomes:
Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

• Closely watch films to gather information relevant to conducting critical analyses.
• Apply critical approaches to the study of films.
• Speak about, write about, and analyze film form and content in historical and cultural context.
• Speak about, write about, and analyze film form and content using the vocabulary of film aesthetics.
• Discuss and debate perspectives on film form and content.

Required Materials:

(Available through campus bookstore; henceforth referred to as EC)

» Any other readings will be available through the course Blackboard website.

Course Policies:

» Attendance is required – both physically and mentally. Unexcused absences will have a direct effect on your final grade for this course, with each one equaling a 25-point deduction (out of a possible total of 1000 points). Attendance will be taken starting exactly at 9:00 a.m. Arrivals after that time will be considered late. Late arrivals and departures prior to the finish of the class period will count as half-absences, meaning that two of either type will be counted as a full absence.

» You are allowed three fully excused absences throughout the semester. These are to be employed at your discretion but should be used to cover illness, religious holiday observance, or most any other event or circumstance that causes you to miss class. Only extreme hardship with back-up documentation (e.g., a doctor's note) will allow for consideration of any additional absences being excused. Classes missed due to university-approved activities (athletic teams, student government, etc.) will also be considered excused. For those absences, please make me aware, and, in addition, I will need official TAMUCC documentation. If appropriate, you may arrange to make up quizzes or exams missed due to excused absences, but it will be your responsibility to get any information from a missed class lecture from one of your classmates.

» All absences not fitting into the excused categories described immediately above, will be considered unexcused. Any work missed due to an unexcused absence cannot be made up.

» Late work will be penalized by a deduction in points equaling ten-percent of the points possible for the assignment for each day it is late. Late work will not be accepted more than 4 days past the original due date.

» While in class, please make sure your cell phone is off and stowed away, even during screenings.

A note on competing media devices: Laptops are permitted for note taking purposes during lecture only, but please do not abuse this privilege. While you may personally feel capable of multitasking during class while still paying attention to lecture and discussion, your surrounding classmates will more likely find your in-class extracurricular activities distracting, so please, for the sake of your peers, respect this restriction. No laptop use will be permitted during screenings.

» A note on film content: Various films screened for this course contain strong language, nudity, sexual situations, violence, controversial subjects, and complex philosophical ideas that might be disturbing to you. While I think there is great value to experiencing new (to you) media content with fresh eyes and ears, if you feel that you may be adversely impacted by certain types of content, it may be helpful to read story synopses available on the Internet Movie
Database (www.imdb.com), Wikipedia (www.wikipedia.org), or other review websites in order to prepare yourself. If there are particularly acute reactions that you feel you may have, I encourage you to let me know so that I can advise you about any potential trouble spots and, if necessary, arrange for alternative screenings.

» Please remember to check your Islander email account regularly during the week and monitor the course Blackboard site for any course updates.
» If you would like to discuss any course readings, lectures, screenings, or assignments outside of class, you should feel free to contact me via email or by arranging to visit me during my office hours. If you need to schedule a time to meet outside of office hours, please let me know.
» All writing for this course must be composed using a standard, 12-point font size, and with standard 1” margins.

Academic Integrity

University students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes all forms of cheating, such as illicit possession of examinations or examination materials, falsification, forgery, complicity or plagiarism (please see below section on plagiarism). In this class, academic misconduct or complicity in an act of academic misconduct on an assignment or test will result in, at the very least, no credit for assignment or test.

Plagiarism

Definition: In an instructional setting, plagiarism occurs when a writer deliberately uses someone else’s language, ideas, or other original (not common-knowledge) material without acknowledging its source. Plagiarism is a violation academic expectations, but it is sometimes difficult to understand what plagiarism actually is. Often, students commit unintentional plagiarism (not citing sources properly, for example), because they are unaware of the standards that apply. Plagiarism includes:

Using the work of another as your own. Downloading or purchasing ready-made essays off the web and using them as your own. Using resource materials without correct documentation. Using the organization or language of a source without using quote marks and proper citation. Turning in a researched project without citing sources in an appropriate documentation style. When you are confused about citation of quotes or ideas, please visit the Writing Center or me to get help. Information on MLA documentation rules and APA documentation rules is available at Purdue University’s OWL: http://owl.english.purdue.edu/, and from our local Writing Center at CASA.

» For the purposes of citation, please follow American Psychological Association (APA) Style Guide. For reference, see: http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/

Dropping a Class:

I hope that you never find it necessary to drop this or any other class. However, events can sometimes occur that make dropping a course necessary or wise. Please consult with your academic advisor, the Financial Aid Office, and me, before you decide to drop this course. Should dropping the course be the best course of action, you must initiate the process to drop the course by going to the Student Services Center and filling out a course drop form. Just stopping attendance and participation WILL NOT automatically result in your being dropped from the class.
Classroom/Professional Behavior:

Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, as an academic community, requires that each individual respect the needs of others to study and learn in a peaceful atmosphere. Under Article III of the Student Code of Conduct, classroom behavior that interferes with either (a) the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or (b) the ability of other students to profit from the instructional program may be considered a breach of the peace and is subject to disciplinary sanctions outlined in Article VII of the Student Code of Conduct. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior may be instructed to leave the classroom. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including classrooms, electronic classrooms, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc.

Academic Advising:

The College of Liberal Arts requires that students meet with an Academic Advisor as soon as they are ready to declare a major. Degree plans are prepared in the CLA Academic Advising Center. The University uses an online Degree Audit System. Any amendment must be approved by the Department Chair and the Office of the Dean. All courses and requirements specified in the final degree plan audit must be completed before a degree will be granted. The CLA Academic Advising Office is located in Driftwood #203. For more information please call 361-825-3466.

Notice to Students with Disabilities

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you believe you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please call or visit Disability Services at (361) 825-5816 in Corpus Christi Hall 116.

If you are a returning veteran and are experiencing cognitive and/or physical access issues in the classroom or on campus, please contact the Disability Services office for assistance at (361) 825-5816.

Grade Appeal Process:

As stated in University Procedure 13.02.99.C0.03, Student Grade Appeal Procedures, a student who believes that he or she has not been held to appropriate academic standards as outlined in the class syllabus, equitable evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course. The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor. For complete details, including the responsibilities of the parties involved in the process and the number of days allowed for completing the steps in the process, see University Procedure Procedure 13.02.99.C0.03, Student Grade Appeal Procedures. These documents are accessible through the University Rules Web site at http://www.tamucc.edu/provost/university_rules/index.html. For assistance and/or guidance in the grade appeal process, students may contact the Dean’s office in the college in which the course is taught or the Office of the Provost.
Grade Scale:

1. A 900-1000 points
2. B 800-899 points
3. C 700-799 points
4. D 600-699 points

F 599 points and below

Grade Distribution:

Attention & Participation (50 points)
Each student is expected to be attentive toward lecture and willing to participate in class discussion and small group discussion activities when appropriate. This grade will reflect how well you accomplish these goals.

Reminder: Attendance is required. You are allowed two absences with no penalty. We are giving you these absences for both your physical and mental health. So, please use them wisely. Tardiness, inappropriate phone use, lack of engagement, sleeping, and unwillingness to contribute to class discussions are some of the ways you can lose participation points.

It is assumed that you will be present for all class meetings and screenings unless you have a valid excuse. After you use up your two free absences, unexcused absences will have a direct effect on your FINAL GRADE (not only the Attention & Participation component) for this course, with each one equaling a 25-point deduction (out of a possible total of 100 points).

Quizzes (150 points total):

Periodically (and at the professor’s discretion) throughout the term, quizzes will be given pertaining to readings and/or films that you are responsible for having read and/or watched.

Blackboard Film Journals (150 points total):

Following select class meetings, screenings, and readings, you will be asked to write short essay responses to questions that ask you to analyze and evaluate films by synthesizing concepts covered in the course with your observations of these films. Due dates are listed throughout the course schedule below. These journals should be approximately 500-750 words in length, although quality of content is more important to me than length. Consider these an opportunity to reflect and communicate your thoughts about general concepts related to the Learning Community subjects & the films we are watching. Ultimately, these are designed to help you contextualize your academic experience with the world around you.

First Year Symposium/Shared Grade with Seminar and Writing & Rhetoric (200 points total):

All first-year students participate in First-Year Symposium (FYS) at the end of the Fall 2019 semester on November 21st & 22nd. It is a celebrated opportunity for students to share their academic work with the campus community. More information will be provided in the form of class discussion and an online assignment description.

Exams (450 points total):
Three exams will be given in-class on the dates specified in the course schedule.
